

rollingout

FASHION VIDEOS

NAACP Image Awards fashion show honored beauty industry icons

By Jonell Whitt Mar 16, 2024 12:37 pm

VoyageATL

Life and Work with Quintessence Patterson

LOCAL STORIES

BUCKEYE REVIEW

Home > Beauty & Fashion
NAACP, Handy Foundation...

NAACP, Handy Foundation & Netflix Partner to Train BIPOC Hair & Makeup Artists

BEAUTY & FASHION CAREER & FINANCE
LIFESTYLE

Buckeye Review Editorial Team

The NAACP x Handy Foundation Glam Squad Training Program aims to train ten aspiring BIPOC Hair and Makeup artists and provide them with the necessary skills for opportunities to work on film and television sets.

During their rigorous 7-week program, trainees will learn specialized training for various skin tones and techniques, special EFX, work on mock photo shoots, gain hands-on experience working at the state-of-the-art NAACP+ Studios and gain insight from tenured industry professionals including: Quintessence Patterson, Key Make Up Artist Starz's BMF; Moe Coles, Key Hair Artist; Camille Friend, Oscar Nominated and NAACP Image Award Winner; Danielle Milton, Founder/CEO, The Milton Agency; Kali Patrice, Multihyphenate hairstylist and creator of STYLE LIKE A BOSS; and Carol Rasheed, Image Award-Winning Makeup Department Head for The Color Purple.

55TH NAACP IMAGE AWARDS

Keisha White, Brian White, Quintessence Patterson, and Russell Mooney attend the "BMF" Season Finale Watch Party at Slush on May 11, 2024 in Atlanta, Georgia. (Photo by Nykieria Chaney/Getty Images)

gettyimages
Credit: Leon Bennett

@naacpimageawards and @naacp

gettyimages
Credit: Nykieria Chaney